

The diagram shows a rectangular page layout with a light blue background. A vertical green line runs down the center, representing a fold line. Two horizontal red lines are positioned near the top and bottom, representing cut lines. A horizontal blue line is located between the two red lines, representing a safety line. Arrows point from the text labels to their respective lines: two arrows point to the red lines from the top-center text, one arrow points to the blue line from the middle-left text, and one arrow points to the green line from the middle-right text.
